The Night Tourist

By Katherine Marsh

Chapters I-V

Chapter I

1. The author provides a few clues that Jack might not be particularly happy. Find and write down some of the clues.

---

---

---

---

2. On page 6 it says "occidit" could mean that the snake "killed her (Eurydice)" or "cut her down," but it could also means she "perished." Throughout the novel, Jack ponders the definition of "occidit." In your opinion, what is the difference between being killed and perishing?

---

---

---

---

3. On page 9, it says, "And Jack never mentioned her (his mother), even though he had hundreds of questions." Why do you suppose Jack cannot ask his father about his mother?

---

---

Chapter III. The visit to Dr. Lyons, Dr. Lyons himself, and his examination of Jack were all very unusual. What are some of the things that happened that were unexpected? Why do you think the Dr. Lyons and Jack are acting that way?

---

---

---

---

Chapter V. When Jack decided to go with Euri to be "an urban explorer," do you think he was being wise or foolish?
